

- Ed and I worked closely together as leaders for the Networked Executive Workforce (NEW.) From the beginning Ed was an energizing force both through his enthusiasm for the mission of NEW and for his positive support of the members including me. Ed has a big picture perspective and is able to see a myriad of possibilities and connections far beyond the here and now. He is also very articulate placing him in an elite group of strategic and visionary leaders. Beyond that Ed is quite considerate and inclusive of others both for their needs and their different perspectives.”